

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JOHN T. YOUNG, JR. RECOGNIZED AS “PEOPLE TO WATCH – 2010”

HOUSTON, TX (April 2010) — John T. Young, Jr., senior managing director of Conway MacKenzie, Inc., has been recognized by the industry leading publication Turnarounds & Workouts as “People to Watch 2010: Business Professionals Making Their Mark.” Young was recognized for his accomplishments including his current position as the Chief Restructuring Officer of a $300 million national metals servicing and distribution business. Previously he served as the Chief Restructuring Officer for a leading Texas-based furniture retailer and as the financial advisor to a secured lender in the bankruptcy of Bigler LP, a Houston-based petrochemical refining and terminals operation.

Young has dedicated his career to providing advisory and interim management services to under-performing and distressed companies.

Prior to joining Conway MacKenzie, Young served as a principal in the interim management and corporate restructuring practice of a national restructuring firm. He has provided a full range of crisis management services throughout North America to under-performing companies including interim management and debtor advisory; bankruptcy preparation and management; litigation support; post-merger integration and debt restructuring and refinancing. In addition to the above, Young’s recent casework includes serving as financial advisor to Pacific Lumber and Scotia Pacific while serving as interim Chief Financial Officer of Scotia Pacific, and serving as a senior member of the Winn-Dixie Stores restructuring team. He also served as an officer of Money’s Foods US Inc., a former subsidiary of Vlasic, while in bankruptcy. Young’s other experience includes Lone Star Funds, a multi-billion dollar equity fund and KPMG Peat Marwick LLP.

Young earned a Master of Business Administration and a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Baylor University. His credentials include: Certified Public Accountant (CPA, Texas), Certified Turnaround Professional (CTP) and Certified Insolvency and Restructuring Advisor (CIRA). Young currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Houston chapter of the Turnaround Management Association.
